Injuries Fail To Stall Nuptials

MOUNT AIRY, N. C. (AP) — Check list for a wedding:

Hospital bed for the bride, wheel chair for the groom, champagne, wedding cake, minister and guests.

They were all here Monday as Barbara Foley, 28, and Emil Tengea, 39, became man and wife in Northern Surry Hospital. The Akron couple, injured last week when their private plane crashed, smiled and kissed as 20 nurses and doctors looked on.

Honeymoon? At least a month in the hospital while Mrs. Tengea recovers from a broken pelvis.

Consumer Said Short of Cash

Wall Street Paper Finds Desire High

NEW YORK (AP)—Lack of cash rather than lack of desire is holding down consumer spending, the Wall Street Journal said today.

"A little more spending money and a lot more price reductions would spur consumer spending more than all the earnest campaigning by industry and government to get Americans to buy now," the paper said.

The publication arrived at this conclusion after interviewing housewives, young married folks, retired people, farmers, corporate executives and factory workers in widely scattered parts of the country.

The Journal found almost all had a hankering to buy one or more major items, and there was little evidence consumer buying desires had been saturated by a postwar spending spree as some economists theorize.

Despite this hankering, the Journal reported, "only a few of those interviewed were actually planning to purchase goods now or in the next couple of months. Most commonly given reasons: too high prices, lack of ready cash, and an unwillingness, despite the many buy-now drives, to dip into savings or go into debt—even if this spending might have some beneficial effect on the nation's economy."

Defense Tries To Save Youth From Chair

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—Defense attorneys swung into action today in preliminaries to a courtroom fight to save bantam killer Charles R. Starkweather from Nebraska's electric chair.

The job at hand: culling from prospective jurors who will give most reasonable audience to a defense contention that the 19-year-old redhead was insane at the time of the January killings.

Prosecuting attorneys Monday examined 56 prospective jurors and found 20 men and 14 women acceptable.

Starkweather is the bandy-legged, 5-foot-5 gunman whose admitted murder rampage shocked the nation and terrorized the Lincoln area, where nine killing victims were counted in three days.

Starkweather is charged specifically in the death Jan. 27 of Robert William Jensen, 17, of nearby Bennet. Jensen's body was found in an unused storm cellar near Bennet while a manhunt was being pushed for Starkweather and his girl friend Carl Ann Fugate, 14, also charged with murder. Carl's trial is pending.

Ambulance Attendant Finds Father Dying

ATLANTA (AP)—Ambulance attendant Carl W. Banks Jr., 18, answered a call to a hotel and found his father fatally wounded.

Police said Banks entered the hotel, rushed out and gasped, "That's my father!"

Ambulance driver F. O. Bishop completed the rush call.

Carl W. Banks, 46, died in a hospital a short time later, police said, of a self-inflicted shotgun wound in the chest.

Portsmouth Man, 34, Said Murder Victim

GREENUP, Ky. (AP)—A Portsmouth, Ohio, man found Monday night on a narrow dirt road at nearby Lode was murdered, authorities say.

Joseph Wiley Bentley, 34, had a bullet wound in the head and apparently had been hit in the forehead with a blunt instrument. No weapons were found near the body.

Coroner Milton Evans called it murder. Bentley's wallet was empty, although some change was found in his pockets.

Million-Member AFL, CIO Merge Amid Fisticuffs

CLEVELAND (AP)—Merger of the Ohio Federation of Labor and the Ohio CIO Council, each boasting half a million members, was approved Monday, but not before some fists flew.

CIO delegates, meeting in Public Music Hall, approved the merger in comparative calm with an overwhelming standing vote. Only a handful of delegates indicated opposition.

Tyrings were different at the opposite end of the public auditorium building, where the AFL convention wound up with a rollcall vote of 810 for the merger and 354 against.

Fighting erupted when John Breidenbach of Dayton, president of the Ohio Building Trades Council, led an irate group to the stage, protesting that the merger was being railroaded through.

Fists began to fly, and Phil Hannah of Columbus, AFL secretary-treasurer, wound up rolling around on the stage in a tussle with Breidenbach. Both came out with bruised faces and torn clothing.

OBSERVERS said William Finnegan, executive secretary of the Cleveland AFL-CIO, helped halt the free-for-all on stage when he seized the microphone and shouted:

"We'll have order if I have to line up the Cleveland delegation in front of the stage."

Breidenbach, whose motion for postponement of the merger had been voted down by voice vote by the delegates, charged that the AFL officers had promised a subsequent rollcall vote on the motion.

"Then they got together to prevent it," he said.

Michael J. Lyden of Youngstown, president of the AFL, was engaged briefly in the skirmish that preceded the rollcall vote.

After it was all over he said he was happy with the result of the meeting. He said the merger was a "step in the right direction."

A joint session of the two groups is scheduled Wednesday, at which time the AFL delegates will name 10 vice presidents and the top two officers of the merged group. Lyden is slated for the presidency and Hannah for the executive vice presidency.

CIO delegates elected 14 vice presidents Monday, but put off election of a secretary-treasurer for the merged group until today.

SLATED FOR that post had been John R. Rooney of Columbus, Ohio CIO secretary-treasurer. But Rooney withdrew to take a post with the United Steelworkers Union in Pittsburgh.

Vice presidents elected by the CIO include: John S. Johns, director District 27, Steelworkers, Canton; Paul Rusen, director District 23, Steelworkers, Portsmouth; Charles Romine, Chemical Workers, Waverly, and Leo Dugan, Rubber Workers, and executive secretary, Akron AFL-CIO.

Ray Ross of Springfield, Ohio CIO Council president, told the CIO delegates: "We will join with the AFL and we will build a united labor movement in Ohio that will be the pride of the AFL-CIO throughout America."

Adlai To 'Argue' With Red Officials

NEW YORK (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson will argue—legally—with the Russians this summer, as an attorney representing American writers.

Stevenson will visit the Soviet Union in July and August as part of a European trip. In Moscow he will try to persuade the Russians to pay royalties to American authors for books published in the U.S.S.R.

The Authors League of America Inc. said Monday that Stevenson had been retained for the job. The Soviet Union has never entered into any copyright relations with the United States and has been legally free to publish and produce U.S. works without paying royalties.

MRS. MAY ROPER COKER of Hartsville, S. C., is American Mother of 1958. The American Mothers Committee Inc., named her for the honor. Mrs. Coker will be feted at a luncheon in New York.

Carolinian Named 'Mother of Year'

NEW YORK (AP)—May Roper Coker of Hartsville, S. C., was named today as the "American Mother of 1958."

Mrs. Coker, 68, was cited as a tireless worker and leader in promoting programs for improving race relations.

She is the daughter of Daniel C. Roper, who served as assistant postmaster general, commissioner of internal revenue and secretary of commerce.

At 24, she married David R. Coker and went to live in Hartsville. She reared eight children, including five of Coker's by a previous marriage.

Labor Reform Bill Is Seen Taking Shape

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) said today he thinks subcommittee hearings on a labor reform bill already have helped to determine the final form the legislation will take.

Kennedy said he believes the bill he has pledged to bring out will cover about 11 areas in the complex labor-management relations field.

The promised three weeks of hearings began Monday with two senators as witnesses—Republican Leader William F. Knowland (R-Calif.) and John L. McClelland (D-Ark.), chairman of the Rackets Committee.

Kennedy said these were the areas which various sections of the bill might seek to handle: union elections, union finances, trusteeships, exemption of construction workers from bargaining elections, provisions for strikers to vote in bargaining elections, elimination of the non-Communist affidavit, secondary boycotts, use of middlemen in union-management negotiations, organizational picketing, state-federal jurisdiction, and conflict of interest cases.

Both Knowland and McClelland told the subcommittee Congress has an obligation to act on a labor regulation bill this year.

3 Ironton Area Schools Closed

IRONTON (AP)—Heavy rains caused another landslide near here today, and high waters prevented opening of three rural schools with a total of 1,092 pupils.

The rockslide today on U.S. 52 about four miles east of here was about 100 yards from a similar slide Monday where 30 tons of rock spilled over the highway.

High waters blocked some rural roads in the Waterloo area and caused closing of the school there. Two schools in the Blackfork area were closed until Wednesday because school buses were unable to use several water-clogged roads.

Athens Milk Rejected By Columbus Officials

COLUMBUS (AP)—A request from Fairmont Foods Co. to bring milk products into Columbus from Athens was rejected Monday by the Columbus Board of Health.

The board said policy is "not to authorize receipt or acceptance of milk beyond the area of our inspection."

Baseball Bat Kills Boy

Only Sixth of Ohioans Slated To Vote Today

Most of State Getting Rain

Top Interest Found In Governor's Race

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

There was rain over the greater part of the state today as nearly a million Ohioans went to the polls to nominate party candidates for the November general election.

The estimated 950,000 voters expected to cast ballots in the Democratic and Republican primary is less than a sixth of Ohio's potential electorate.

It was raining in Cleveland, Columbus, Cincinnati and many other points in the state as the polls opened. Elsewhere skies were cloudy. Generally cool temperatures prevailed.

Light balloting reports were general in most sections of the state at mid-morning, but it did not change Secretary of State Ted Brown's estimate of nearly a million voters.

Brown said he didn't think the weather or the reports of light balloting would make much of a change in his estimate. He had based his forecast in part on expected balloting by professional workers and county, city and state employees. Bad weather probably wouldn't affect their plans to vote, he said.

Prime interest is in the Republican and Democratic governor races. Republican voters had a two-way choice for their nominee, but Democratic voters were confronted by a list of seven.

Nominations also were on tap for all other elective state offices except that of state auditor. Generally cloudy and cool weather was the forecast for primary election day. Polls opened at 6:30 a. m., will close at 6:30 p. m.

NOMINEES for U. S. senator also are being selected, but neither incumbent Republican John W. Bricker nor Democrat Stephen M. Young has opposition. Voters also

Circleville Boy Drowns in Swollen Creek

CIRCLEVILLE, Ohio (AP)—A boy playing with his little brother and two cousins on a bridge over Hargus Creek here, fell into the rain-swollen stream Monday night and drowned.

The boy was identified as George Michael Stevens, 8, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clark Stevens, Circleville.

Police said George, his brother, Ronnie, 5, and his cousins, Garry Hoop, 7, and Dennis Hoop, 5, were sitting on a pipe that runs along the outer edge of the bridge. George fell as he tossed a stone at a bottle floating down the creek.

His body was recovered by sheriff's deputies about 45 minutes later.

Hargus Creek and the Scioto River here are overflowing their banks as a result of heavy rains that fell during the past few days.

The Weather Bureau in Columbus said the Scioto's stage at Circleville today reached 16.35 feet, but that it is receding. Flood stage is 14 feet.

The Scioto is also beyond, or approaching, flood stage in other southern Ohio communities, the Columbus Weather Bureau reported.

At Piketon, it reached a stage of 18.58 and is expected to crest at 19 or 20 feet today. Flood stage is 16 feet.

At Chillicothe, the river reached 14.5 feet this morning and is expected to crest at 15 or 16 feet.

Flood stage probably won't be later today. Flood stage is 16 feet. Flood stage probably won't be reached at Portsmouth, the Weather Bureau said. The river has already reached 38.7 feet and should crest at 45.4 feet Wednesday. The flood stage is 50 feet.

NATO Urges Push Toward Summit

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (AP)—

Foreign ministers of six NATO nations told the Big Three today to push ahead for a summit conference with the Soviet Union but not to weaken their position for the sake of propaganda.

One by one, the foreign ministers at their North Atlantic Treaty Organization conference suggested that the United States, Britain and France continue their efforts to find out what the Soviet Union wants to talk about at a summit conference.

They said the West should enter the top-level talks only if the preliminary negotiations show a chance of easing world tensions.

Speaking at the session were the ministers of Italy, Denmark, Canada, Norway, Portugal and Belgium.

They questioned whether the Kremlin really wants a meaningful conference.

The smaller NATO nations made these other points:

1. THE WORLD should move to a suspension of nuclear weapon tests on two conditions. One is to wait until the United States and Britain have completed their current series of tests. The other is to halt tests only under an agreement with the Soviet Union with ironclad controls.

2. The West should sign no agreement with the Soviets which requires the withdrawal of United States, British or Canadian troops from European soil.

3. The recent Soviet attitude as reflected in Moscow and in the U.N. Security Council raises a doubt whether a summit conference could be successful now.

The ministers went into the session with the feeling that Moscow is now on the defensive in summit conference negotiations because the West has pinned it down on what should be discussed.

Discussions indicated the ministers have all but adopted the theory of Secretary of State Dulles that the North Atlantic Treaty nations must not rush into a summit meeting at any price.

British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd told the ministers the Soviets have already suffered a propaganda defeat from the West trying to pin them down on their vague talk of ways to preserve peace. He cited the Soviet veto in the U.N. Security Council last week of the U.S. arctic inspection proposal.

This, Lloyd suggested, indicated Moscow might be starting to back away from a summit conference in fear of having to face similar choices between mere talk and approving specific inspection or disarmament plans.

Fleming conferred at the White House with the President last week in connection with the work of a committee on government reorganization.

Fleming, who will be 53 June 12, was a civil service commissioner from 1939 to 1948 when he was elected president of Ohio Wesleyan.

He continued to serve on various government boards and commissions, and in early 1951 took a leave of absence from his university post to become assistant to Charles E. Wilson, then director of defense mobilization.

Later, Fleming took over the ODM post.

Today, Fleming was on his way back to Ohio and could not be reached for comment.

However, he scheduled a special faculty meeting for 4:15 p. m. today, at which time he is expected to announce results of his trip.

Asked about these reports, Hagerty said:

"Until I know there is a vacancy, I have no comment."

The press secretary said Folsom, former treasurer of the Eastman Kodak Co., first told Eisenhower about a year ago that he would like to return to private life some time this year.

Folsom expressed that wish anew to the President about two or three months ago.

School Class Separation Urged

CINCINNATI (AP)—A Miami University administrator suggested today that public schools separate the teaching and what he calls "enrichment activities" — athletics and other out-of-class services.

Dr. D. S. Ward, dean of the Miami education school, told a parent-teacher group that under his plan, a School Division would concentrate on study and learning, while a Youth Services Division would take over school-related guidance, welfare, parent education, recreation and athletics.

Ward said that under his plan, even youths released from school for parttime jobs would take part in sports.

14th Amendment Protects Stomach

NEWARK, N.J. (AP)—The 14th amendment to the U. S. Constitution has sprung to the aid of Ronald A. Booker's stomach.

Booker, 30, regurgitated a package of heroin March 10 at the insistence of East Orange Hospital's stomach pump, which was being utilized by police.

Essex County Judge James A. Giuliano has acquitted Booker of a narcotics charge, ruling that the Constitution makes Booker's right to the contents of his stomach inviolate. Giuliano refused to allow the heroin into evidence.

The police search into Booker's stomach was "brutal and oppressive," Giuliano said.

Nixon Speech Appears Sound and Sensible

Just the other day in New York, what sounded like a good, sound speech was delivered by Vice - President Richard Nixon, is worthy of thoughtful consideration.

Most people who are considering today's economic conditions in this country with care and are inclined to agree with the cautious attitude being shown by President Eisenhower and also Vice-President Nixon.

Neither one is allowing himself to be thrown off stride by the wild appeals from different groups and the demands of certain congressmen who realize this is an election year and therefore they are making various statements to make themselves "look good" in the eyes of voters in their states and districts, especially who want something for nothing, and want it quickly. Such congressmen are thinking about getting easy votes for themselves rather than the future economic problems immediately ahead. It is easy to do something too hurriedly which can cause more harm than good.

In his talk to the nation's newspaper publishers Vice - President Nixon stressed two points; there will not be any actual depression and this country must always move ahead.

"He called attention to the Russian boasts of overcoming our lead. The Soviet leaders say their economy is growing at a faster rate than ours. Economic competition between the free world and the communists may well decide the world conflict.

Therefore, we cannot stand still, the Vice President declared. A normal economic system, as opposed to one controlled, as is that of Russia's, needs to slow down so that needed changes can be made, bad habits and faulty practices corrected. Once these are made, the system will be stronger.

Inflation is the error, or fault, which Mr. Nixon puts at the top of the list of things to be corrected. He listed, too, easy sales, saying we have become a nation of order-takers rather than salesmen. Our plants have expanded their productive capacity to meet the growth of years ahead. The Vice President rejected massive spending by the Federal Government and would delay a tax cut until there is no other alternative of a corrective quality.

He chided the national advertisers by noting their lineage was down 40 per cent from last year and asked how they expected to sell if they did not advertise. He asked of labor leaders that they exercise all necessary restraint. He closed on a note of faith—there will be no depression... free labor will outproduce slave labor.

Certainly massive spending would not touch the real problem. A tax cut would not meet the present need. There are a few signs the economy is correcting itself. Most people will agree with Mr. Nixon that it is best to give these corrective forces more time to reveal themselves and their effect.

Victims of Neurosis
Need Doctor's Help

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

ANYONE, even the most stable individual—even you—may develop a neurosis.

This doesn't mean you are ready for immediate admission to a state hospital. Development of a neurosis, however, does mean you need competent help. "Neurosis" probably is a poor term. Literally, it means "full of nerves."

Emotional Changes

Neuralgia and neuritis actually are diseases of the nerves. Neurosis is not; at least not in the same sense. It is a disease based on deep emotional changes. Generally, it is relatively mild, although, of course, there are many serious cases. The personality, or "psyche," still functions during neurosis, but it is in trouble, it needs help. While neurosis may occur at any age, the first signs usually appear in the late teens or early adulthood. Quite often we can trace it as far back as early infancy.

Early Signs
There are many neurotic trends of childhood, such as temper tantrums, sleep-walking, bed-wetting and nail-biting. Even fussing over food may be a neurotic trait.

In most instances, these traits are outgrown and they cause no more trouble. Sometimes, however, even though the traits themselves may disappear, the underlying problems which caused them continue and thus bring on trouble at a later date. Even if these problems are not always present, a perfectly healthy and stable person may develop a neurosis if he is subjected to sufficient stress and strain.

Many Causes
Any number of situations may trigger neurotic disease. A serious injury or operation may be the cause; exhaustion or malnutrition may be factors. In addition to physical ailments, emotional problems may precipitate neurotic illness. Family troubles, job insecurity or expectant parenthood may be enough to launch emotional disease.

In cases where a person has become more vulnerable because of earlier experiences, even a trivial occurrence might set off a neurotic episode.

He Needs Help
A victim of neurosis is not "insane." Generally, he is well able to make his own decisions. For this reason his family may have to coax him to see his doctor. But coax him they must, because he needs help.

QUESTION AND ANSWER
Mrs. C. H.: I drink three quarts of milk daily. I am seventy-one years old. Will too much calcium from milk hurt me?

Answer: Since excessive calcium is eliminated by the body, it is not likely that drinking large amounts of milk will be injurious to you.

However, if you drink three quarts of milk every day, it may not be possible for you to eat all the other foods necessary to make your diet well balanced, such as fruits, vegetables, cereals and meat. For this reason, it might be well to reduce the quantity of milk you are taking.

Anti-Red Views Grow in Russia

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Frank T. Bow (R-Ohio) reports he has been told by a former leader of the Russian underground that 4,300 students at the University of Leningrad were expelled last year for anti-Soviet views.

"Nearly 100 leading Russian authors were publicly criticized for heretical writings," Bow said.

"More than a dozen magazines of wide distribution were suspended for the same offense."

Bow said his Russian informant, now in the United States, "firmly believes the overthrow of the Communist dictatorship, without outside help, will occur in the foreseeable future."

The Nation Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—If you were born and raised in a backward or recently liberated country, which would seem to hold out to you a good life faster: the American way of living or the Communist?

One of this country's greatest and most critical problems—in giving aid and encouragement to the backward and liberated nations—is in persuading them to take the Western road.

Over the weekend President Eisenhower emphasized the importance to the United States of non-

Communist countries everywhere: "There is not a person in the United States that is not affected every single day by what happens in Africa, in Far Asia, in Europe and all of South America. We are no longer independent economic units."

Allen Dulles, the best informed American on what the Soviets are up to, recently stuck his finger into the middle of the problem in a talk to the 46th annual meeting of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce.

Dulles is the brother of Secretary of State Dulles. As head of the Central Intelligence Agency he has agents all over the world reporting back on Communist activities everywhere.

He said: "For some reason the recently liberated countries seem to feel that the Kremlin has found a new and magic formula for quick industrialization which is a hallmark of becoming a modern state."

In this country, with its long tradition and practice of democracy and its gradually modified form of capitalism, people have no trouble choosing between the freedom and fruits of democracy on one side and communism on the other.

But the people of this country have achieved their present industrial, social and scientific eminence and their living standards after many years of effort.

At the same time the best example of a backward country which has made the most progress fastest is the Soviet Union. Now put yourself in the position of a native of a backward country which has had no long tradition of democracy or personal freedom.

Assume, too, that you want for yourself and your children food, jobs, a good home, education, medical care as fast as possible. The United States isn't promising miracles overnight but the Communists are. Which would you choose?

This is what Dulles says: "Moscow's foreign aid program has particular appeal in the undeveloped countries because Russia until so recently was an undeveloped country itself.

"They recognize American economic and industrial leadership in the world but they feel that the democratic process of economic development may be too slow."

"Soviet propaganda charges that it took the West 150 years to achieve industrially what the Soviets have built in a generation. In the newly developing countries the drive for economic betterment has become a crusade, not always based on reason."

"Also these countries feel that we in the United States are far ahead of them and that while they may aspire eventually to an economy something like that of the Soviet Union, they cannot in the foreseeable future hope to reach the high standards of living of this country."

To Outlive Wife, Go to India

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

That if you want to outlive your wife you'd better move to India or Ceylon. Those are said to be the only two countries left in which the life expectancy of men is greater than that of women.

That Turkish baths originated in Rome.

That, despite what you think, the state with the highest marriage rate is Nevada.

That Walter Brennan, who became famous in Western movies and now stars as a West Virginia farmer in the TV series, "The Real McCoys," actually speaks with a New England twang. He hails from Swampscott, Mass.

That for some reason giants are much rarer than gnomes—that is, unless you are a short guy looking for a blind date.

That if you have an ordinary build, your thigh bone should be about 27½ per cent of your height. Get a tape measure and check yourself.

That fish are being treated with sulfa drugs and antibiotics. That if you want to live in the geographic center of the United States, go to Lebanon, Kan.

That the Pacific Ocean extends as far east as New York. Look it up on a map.

That there is such a thing as crocodile tears. When this reptile eats, the food presses against a gland near its mouth and releases tears.

That the island of Jamaica has decided against legalizing gambling casinos in the belief they'd hurt rather than help its tourist industry.

That Queen Elizabeth has one of the world's biggest spring housecleaning problems. Buckingham Palace has more than 1,000 rooms.

That a survey showed the typical New York City office executive is 42 years old, 5 feet 11, weighs 174 pounds, lives in the suburbs, and served as a sergeant in World War II.

That if you want to get married underground the management of the Meramec Caverns at Stanton, Mo., will provide a justice of the peace free of charge.

That one tenth of the world's running water flows in the Amazon River.

That a fish with perhaps the longest name in the world can be found off the Fiji Islands. Its called the humuhumunukunukuapua. But you should have seen the name that got away:

That there are 100 million color tones, but the human eye can distinguish only a comparative few.

That when Sir Winston and Lady Churchill dine out, their favorite meal consists of mussels or oysters followed by boiled chicken, asparagus, and a special bombe glace for dessert. She likes to finish off with Grand Mariner, he with champagne.

That if you feel tired and don't know why, maybe you should recall what Anne Morrow Lindbergh wrote: "The most exhausting thing in life is being insincere."

Coddling Vicious Murderers

So the story goes that a New York City Youth Board operative took Ramon Serra and two companions for a ride. They ate hot dogs and drank soda pop and he induced them to play a game of softball the next day.

Then they went to a candy store where, in the presence of the Youth Board worker, Serra murdered Michael Ramos, a gang organizer. The social worker commented:

"I heard a loud noise—a blast. It was so loud that I put my hands up to my ears."

Oh dear! What a sweet and lovely story!

New York City and many other cities are dangerous places for living because for sentimental reasons, the public authorities decline to treat crime as crime and criminals as criminals.

Many social workers, do-gooders, even newspaper editors who should know better, believe that crime can be put down by coddling criminals.

Actually, what they mean is that as the Negro and Puerto Rican population is enormous and in some areas of New York represents a majority, it is neither sound business nor sound politics to make too much noise about whatever may be offensive to them, even murder.

The Youth Board, in New York City, as similar organizations are elsewhere, is a coddling organization, designed to achieve by sweetness and light what all human experience proves can only be accomplished by punishment.

Even applying the social worker's slogan "the greatest good to the greatest number," the gangs have become intolerable.

They not only murder individuals who have a legal and moral right to remain alive, but they produce conditions which close down parks at night, make streets dangerous and cost the city money for additional policing. The youth gangs should be broken up by brute force.

The Youth Board in New York consists of 18 respectable and busy citizens, few of whom have any time to devote to this activity having affairs of their own, and 10 public officials each one of whom has a full-time job.

So the task, as in all such matters, goes down to the professional social workers who operate the enterprise according to the latest ideas of sociability based on the assumption that hog dogs and soda pop will assuage the murderous beasts who betray our civilization.

The social worker's concept of life is environmental and secular and assumes that gangs can be diverted into sweet groups, playing checkers and handball, by kind words spoken to amoral boys and girls.

Serra, for instance, is 20 years old; Ramos, whom he killed in cold blood in the candy store, was 17 years old; Serra's girl friend, who fingered the murdered for the police, is 14 years old. Serra possesses an arsenal which cost considerable money because the weapons had to be obtained from illegal places. These are not babies. Serra is a grown man. But what about his girl friend? What do the newspapers mean when they call a girl of 14 a girl friend?

What does the law say about responsibility for the morals of those under age? When a child of 14 is the girl friend of a man of 20, what is the legal and moral friend?

What does the Youth Board do about defining such terms and such relationships? What do they do to protect such a child as this 14-year old girl from criminal associations?

In this case, there was another girl to whom Serra handed the murder weapon which she threw into an ash can where the police found it.

What kind of a girl is this? Was she an accomplice? Was she a member of Serra's gang or of a girl's auxiliary gang?

The gang problem in the big cities is becoming unmanageable because it is not being treated exclusively as crime which it is.

The gangs grow in number and size. They involve young people who engage in truancy, in school riots, in narcotics, in gang wars, in murders.

Large cities have always had gangs, but nothing quite as vicious as the gangs of juveniles and youths who pollute our cities and who, usually, are products of improper homes.

This is strictly a police problem everywhere, and it can be established that the soft intervention of the social workers has only aggravated the situation.

Photography Trade Scoffs At Recession

Business This Year Expected To Chalk Record High Sales

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP)—Among those thumbing their noses at the recession are the men in the photography business. They say sales are better than ever and that the American yen to snap a picture of anything anywhere should make this a record year.

They do have some worries. American camera makers note that sales of equipment from Japan and Germany mount steadily.

One American firm says labor accounts for 45 per cent of its production costs. Cheaper labor abroad can let foreign manufacturers undersell Americans, the latter say.

And in the highly competitive domestic industry, there is considerable pressure to bring out more new products and cut prices.

Importers of Japanese photo goods say sales rose 25 per cent last year to around 7½ million dollars. German photo sales gained 10 per cent to hit 12 million dollars.

Sales of all photo equipment in the United States topped one billion dollars last year and several firms now predict on the basis of first-quarter gains that sales for the year may approach 1½ billion.

Manufacturers and retailers say sales are on the upgrade for cameras, film, color transparencies, motion picture rolls and slide projectors.

Eastman Kodak says amateur photographers accounted for 240 million dollars of its total sales of 798 million last year. It looks for a good year in 1958 with the business slump playing little part.

Bell & Howell's sales last year rose to 52 million and it is aiming at 57 million this year.

Polaroid says its sales should rise by at least 15 per cent.

Flashbulb makers — Westinghouse Electric, General Electric, Sylvania and others — sold a record 600 million units last year and hope to sell 625 million this year.

Sales of projectors rose to 600,000 units last year, four times what they were 10 years ago. The Ansco division of General Aniline & Film says the boom is still going strong, helped by pushing instalment buying. Other suppliers include Revere Camera, Eastman, Argus and Bell & Howell.

Rings Returned After 15 Years

DENVER (AP)—Fifteen years ago Ethyl Rucker Ferguson left a set of diamond rings she valued at $1,000 on a mirror ledge in a rest room at the Colorado capitol.

Five minutes later, she discovered the rings were missing and returned to the rest room. The rings were gone.

Mrs. Ferguson, an employee of the state treasurer's office for 21 years, had the rings back again today.

The rings, almost worn through, arrived with a note in small airmail package over the weekend. Time postmark was blurred.

The terse note said "...may God forgive."

Stassen Showing Progress In Pennsylvania Campaign

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—Harold E. Stassen, who three months ago ventured into Pennsylvania's political arena a seemingly hopeless underdog, is coming up fast in his bid for the Republican nomination for governor.

Campaigning as an independent who at first wasn't even taken seriously by many of the party old-timers, Stassen has built up strength surprising even to his adherents.

All the same, there is a question whether his upward climb will have enough zing to outstrip the organization's man, Arthur T. McGonigle, in the short while before the May 20 primary. McGonigle, making his first run for office, is a Reading pretzel manufacturer.

At the moment, sentiment samplers expect the voting to be light, a circumstance that nearly always favors the organization.

The Republican organization is beating out a steady drumfire of criticism against Stassen, its main theme being that he is a carpet-bagger, an epithet of political resentment on the part of native sons toward the 51-year-old former Minnesota governor who resigned as President Eisenhower's disarmament aide to try his luck in Pennsylvania.

And the organization leaders keep talking — without naming names — about Stassen's getting out-of-state money help in his campaign, all aimed at blocking Vice President Nixon's presumed presidential aspirations in 1960.

The man in the governor's chair traditionally has led the Keystone State's big delegation to national conventions.

Stassen replied to the "carpet-bagger" attack that he qualified as a Pennsylvania voter 10 years ago and asked, with a touch of asperity, whether all non-native Pennsylvanians should be returned to their original homes.

Frequent television appearances and a county-by-county stumping tour are serving as a forum on his plans to oust the Democratic administration of young Gov. George M. Leader.

William S. Livengood Jr., a former organization stalwart, is also in the three-cornered GOP gubernatorial race.

U. S. Coal Use Seen Climbing By 50 Pct.

CINCINNATI (AP)—Julian D. Conover, executive vice president of the American Mining Congress, declared here today that reliable forecasts are for a 50 per cent increase in the consumption of coal in the United States by 1975.

Conover, speaking at the opening of the three-day convention of the mining congress, said that to insure that growth there should be immediate establishment of a "broad program of coal research with government-industry cooperation."

About 2,000 coal mine executives and other key personnel were expected to attend the convention for a review of mining modernization and preparation techniques aimed at quality control.

John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers Union, who often has been at odds with mine operators over contract terms, was to speak at a luncheon today.

In his speech, Conover said congressional hearings last year "brought out the need of substantially expanded research to develop new and more effective uses for coal, to improve and expand uses and to reduce the cost of coal production and distribution."

He said legislation for such a program now is pending in Congress and that it would be "highly beneficial to the coal mining industry, to consumers of coal, to coal mining workers, to distressed coal mining communities and to the general public."

Conover added, "It would be in the national interest for the federal government to undertake the financing and management of such a program without delay."

Women Protest City Dump Stench

DETROIT (AP)—Irrked at the ripe smell coming from a smoldering trash heap at a nearby refuse dump, housewives in suburban Warren took what a spokesman called "direct action" Monday.

The ladies, about a dozen in all, set up a row of chairs across the entrance to the dump and sat through the day, unmoved by police entreaties and the coaxing of would-be dump users.

A group leader said previous efforts to control fires at the dump had failed and when one kept burning for four days in a row she and her neighbors decided to do something about it.

New Dental Bill Pay Plan Offered

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Dentists have a new way to help you pay your dental bills.

Dr. Rudolph H. Friedrich came here from Chicago to give about 2,500 dentists at a Missouri-Kansas meeting a chance to get their teeth into the idea.

Under the plan, you borrow from a bank to pay your dentist, and the dental association has a reserve fund that guarantees the bank won't lose if you fail to repay your loan.

The plan is proving successful, says Dr. Friedrich, secretary of the Council on Dental Health of the American Dental Assn.

Matrix Table Attended by Miss Kerrigan

Miss Agnes Kerrigan, Washington C. H., and Mrs. Thomas Anderson of Columbus were among the 800 guests at the 34th annual Matrix Table at the Neil House, Columbus.

The Matrix Table, always a socially exciting occasion, is sponsored by the Columbus alumnae chapter of Theta Sigma Phi, national honorary society for women in professional journalism. It is strictly formal and by invitation only. It honors the literary women of Ohio and other states. Mrs. Bernard B. Strohm is president of the Columbus chapter.

The main ballroom and the junior ballroom combined, in which the elaborate banquet was held, was gaily decorated in Japanese cherry bloom.

The speaker's table was embellished with snap dragons and glittering huckleberry greens.

The hostesses were pink sashes, adorned with silver, to resemble those worn by foreign diplomats in Washington, with whom the speaker, Mrs. Ruth Montgomery, has to deal.

Special guests at the speaker's table, in addition to the officers, were Mrs. C. William O'Neill, Mrs. John W. Bricker, Mrs. Maynard Sensenbrenner, Mrs. Novice G. Fawcett, Mrs. Franklin Trannet and Mrs. Millicent Easter.

Miss Mary McGarey, Columbus newspaper columnist, masterminded the traditional March of the Golden Chairs. Young girls of junior Theta Sigma Phi of the Ohio State University School of Journalism held the white satin ribbons which formed aisles through which the parade went.

Mrs. Ruth Montgomery, Washington reporter and columnist, told the audience that "Newspaper people have a free front row seat to the greatest show on earth." She said her best exclusive story was the one in which President Eisenhower's brother, Edgar, criticized the president for his manner of running the government.

ANNA JARVIS

AND

MAY 11, 1958

This year Mother's Day will be observed on the above date. Possibly a resume of its inception might be of interest to you, as this year marks its fiftieth anniversary.

According to the Florists Review who has carefully checked its origin, the first Mother's Day services were held at Andrew's Methodist Episcopal Church in Grafton, W. Virginia, in May 1908. This was done at the request of Miss Anna Jarvis, in memory of her mother, an active worker in that church and all other mothers of the congregation.

On that day Miss Jarvis contributed 500 white carnations to the church, to be worn by all those attending the service, in honor of his or her mother.

The response to the idea was nation-wide and in 1909, the florists throughout the country were sold out of white carnations the Saturday before the then unofficial Mother's Day arrived.

In 1914, the second Sunday in May was named as Mother's Day, by presidential proclamation.

Although not strictly in accordance with Miss Jarvis' original desires the custom now is to wear white flowers in memory of your mother and brighter ones if she is living.

Mother's Day is definitely a day of remembrance with flowers and we will have those of your selection to choose from when it arrives next Sunday.

Round about Fayette County

By B. E. KELLEY

I have mentioned in this column before that up to 90 years ago, some extremely large snakes inhabited this area, that folklore stories handed down to present generations indicate that some of the reptiles were so huge that they so frightened early residents that they remained away from the areas known to be infested.

For instance, some 90 years ago a huge snake was seen in the Pleasant View and Shady Grove communities, where some residents saw the reptile's head protruding two feet above the ripening wheat.

Later the same year a section of snake skin 1 1/2 feet in length, was found in the community.

Whether the huge snake was ever killed, I have been unable to ascertain.

Reports from other parts of the county also tell of big snakes during the early days.

One of the stories that has come to my attention was about a snake "as large as a telegraph pole" seen along Deer Creek southwest of Williamsport, 65 years ago.

That snake was so big that those who saw it never went near the spot. In, and an organized search by men with shotguns and rifles failed to locate it.

Today a six-foot blacksnake in the county is regarded as an exceptionally big snake, and the chief poisonous reptiles found in the county are the little prairie rattlers along Rattlesnake Creek and possibly a few copperheads in the extreme southern part of the county.

WHEAT OUTLOOK GOOD

Due to a great deal of rain in April, the wheat outlook in Fayette County and surrounding areas has improved greatly, and at present most of the fields will produce a normal yield if nothing unforeseen occurs in the meantime.

There will be some fields where the crop will be somewhat below normal, but generally speaking based on present indications the crop will be up to standard. The price may be down somewhat compared with prices in recent years.

Wheat was unusually late in getting a foothold last fall, and was in good condition until the low temperatures struck it in February, when there was no snow on the ground, leaving the fields brown with no show of green.

It was late in March before the wheat started greening up once more, and after the rains and warmer weather came, the grain has been growing rapidly. The outlook is for a great deal of straw as well as wheat.

MANY "MOUSE EARS"

In looking over the Courthouse lawn to determine what kind of flowers and weeds might be hiding in the grass, I found an abundance of the small chickweed, which grows profusely in many places, including the front lawn of the Postoffice.

Another name for the common chickweed is "mouse ears" since the leaves resemble the ears of a small rodent. It is one of the most common of the small, unobtrusive weeds spreading from a large number of seeds on the nature plants.

Birds not only eat the tender new leaves, but also are very fond of the seeds.

There are several kinds of chickweed in addition to the kind most prevalent in this community—notably the giant or great chickweed which is usually found in the hill areas, mostly in acid soil.

CORN, WHEAT, OATS

It has not been many years since corn, wheat and oats formed the three leading crops in the county, with a little sprinkling of barley and rye.

In recent years very little barley and rye have been grown, although both of these grains are important items of food for man and beast.

The big turn has been to soybeans, and upward of 20,000 acres of these beans will be grown in the county this year. Approximately 21,500,000 acres will be planted in the nation.

Year by year, more and more soybeans have been grown, the increase being much greater in some parts of the country than in this immediate section of Ohio.

The crop is raised with little difficulty, rarely fails, and the price has made it attractive.

Another crop which has been grown extensively for years is alfalfa, and this had proved profitable to those growing it.

Science Working Wonders In Helping Keep Baby Clean

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Staff Writer

It's a problem to keep baby clean. Ask any mother who has the experience of cleaning baby's nails before she takes him visiting, only to find little black borders at his fingertips when she introduces him to her hostess. How does a child pick up so much dirt in so short a time?

The grime goes to legs, arms and face too, and the most fastidious mother may be embarrassed that her child looks neglected. The daily bath helps, but for how long? One silver lining is clothing that makes life easier for Mom.

There are the disposable diapers, now available in pastels, so that the baby who crawls around in diapers may always be clean and fresh in these chuck-easy pants. These are handy, too, for travel, so that the toddler doesn't need to wear soiled diapers for any length of time.

New improvements in washing techniques should keep the little rascal clean, in spite of dirty hands. One new laundry product contains durtex, a hexachlorophene concoction that cleanses and deodorizes as it launders.

The new detergent eliminates the need for soaking or boiling regular diapers, and helps to cut down ammonia formation.

If you plan to block tiny wool garments, cut a frame out of cardboard before you wash the garment. The frame will help speed the drying by absorbing moisture, but be sure the cardboard does not contain dye which may come off on the garment.

It's always a good idea to pre-treat extra soiled areas with extra suds rubbed in with the fingers. Small-fry socks really pick up the dirt as toddlers enjoy running around without shoes. Other spots to look for dirt are at the wrists of long-sleeved garments, and at the necks of sweaters and dresses.

When washing woollens be sure the water is not too hot. Pour detergent into hot water, swish it around until it gets sudsy, then add cold water. It should feel neither cold nor hot, more on the tepid side. Newer detergents containing special ingredients may go a good washing job in lukewarm water.

Squeeze suds gently from woolen garments, roll in a turkish towel and lay away flat from direct heat or sunlight to dry. Knit woools with a shrink-resistant finish have a tendency to stretch, laundry experts say, so these, too, should be handled and blocked with care.

Garments of acrilan and orlon or of these fibers blended with wool may be washed in an automatic machine using short cycles. It helps, too, to put them into a mesh laundry bag or pillow slip. Remove them from the machine when wet, blot between towels, and lay them out flat to dry.

Fragile baby clothes such as christening garments and lace bibs may be put in a jar that is filled with lukewarm suds, rocked to and fro for several minutes and then rinsed the same way. Blot the garments on a towel.

Baby's and children's dresses may be washed easily. Cotton and rayon dresses are better dried on the line. Rayon, nylon or dacron should not be washed in too-hot water, or touched up with a too-hot iron. Do not squeeze or wring little dresses or you'll produce wrinkles. Bleaches should not be used on fine fabric, and sometimes are unnecessary with new detergent's cleansing power. Soaking, too, is unnecessary.

Wash and wear pleated dresses should be put on a hanger, buttoned and hung up to drip-dry. Press pleats with the fingers two or three times while drying.

Squeeze suds gently from woolen garments, roll in a turkish towel and lay away flat from direct heat or sunlight to dry. Knit woools with a shrink-resistant finish have a tendency to stretch, laundry experts say, so these, too, should be handled and blocked with care.

Garments of acrilan and orlon or of these fibers blended with wool may be washed in an automatic machine using short cycles. It helps, too, to put them into a mesh laundry bag or pillow slip. Remove them from the machine when wet, blot between towels, and lay them out flat to dry.

filled with lukewarm suds, rocked to and fro for several minutes and then rinsed the same way. Blot the garments on a towel.

Baby's and children's dresses may be washed easily. Cotton and rayon dresses are better dried on the line. Rayon, nylon or dacron should not be washed in too-hot water, or touched up with a too-hot iron. Do not squeeze or wring little dresses or you'll produce wrinkles. Bleaches should not be used on fine fabric, and sometimes are unnecessary with new detergent's cleansing power. Soaking, too, is unnecessary.

Wash and wear pleated dresses should be put on a hanger, buttoned and hung up to drip-dry. Press pleats with the fingers two or three times while drying.

School Integration Crisis Yields 3 Pulitzer Prizes

NEW YORK (AP)—The school integration crisis in Little Rock, Ark., set the stage for three of the 1958 Pulitzer Prizes in journalism.

Two of the prizes, which were announced Monday, were won by the same newspaper, the Arkansas Gazette, of Little Rock.

Another was awarded to Reiman (Pat) Morin, an Associated Press reporter, for his coverage of integration violence.

For "demonstrating the highest qualities of civic leadership, journalistic responsibility and moral courage," the Gazette won the prize for meritorious public service.

The newspaper's executive editor, Harry S. Ashmore, 41, won a prize "for the forcefulness, dispassionate analysis and clarity of his editorials" on the explosive integration situation.

This marked the first time a newspaper captured the public service award while one of its editors won the editorial prize for the same news event.

Morin, a Pulitzer Prize winner in 1951, was cited for "his dramatic and incisive eyewitness report of mob violence on Sept. 23, 1957, during the integration crisis" at Little Rock's Central High School.

Morin, 50, was one of two winners this year for national reporting.

The other separate award in this category went to Clark Mollenhoff, 37, Washington correspondent for the Des Moines Register and Tribune and the Minneapolis Star and Tribune. He was cited for his investigation of labor racketeering.

"A Death in the Family," by the late James Agee, and "Look Homeward, Angel," adapted by Ketti Frings from the late Thomas Wolfe's novel, were named the best American novel and play of 1957.

The award to Agee, who died three years ago at the age of 45, was the first Pulitzer Prize for fiction to be awarded posthumously.

The novel deals with a Southern family's reaction to the death of a beloved father.

Miss Frings' play has been a Broadway hit since it opened last Nov. 28. Wolfe never won a Pulitzer Prize for the autobiographical novel she adapted.

The 41st annual Pulitzer Prize awards in journalism, letters and music by the trustees of Columbia University were made public by Dr. Grayson Kirk, university president. The awards were established by the late publisher Joseph Pulitzer.

Good Hope Senior Players Perform before Full House

By GEORGE GARINGER

GOOD HOPE — The Senior class of Wayne High School presented their play, "Bolts and Nuts", before an almost full house. The audience was laughing and chuckling from beginning to end.

"The seniors will use the receipts from the play to help finance their trip to New York.

The setting of the play was in a small town named Sparkling Springs. An elderly lady by the name of Rebecca Bolt (Lolita Overly) had just inherited her late husband's house. She, being a faddist decided to turn her house into a mental sanitarium much to the dismay of her niece Benta Bolt (Mary Jo Hoppes) and her maid, Lottie Spinks, (Helen Knisley) Lottie hates men but she has a habit of winking when ever she gets nervous. This is always getting her into trouble.

Then it is learned that there is $15,000 hidden somewhere in the house. Benta's boy friend, T. W. Starr, (Gary Brown) shows up and things start to pop. The so called "nuts" start to arrive and to the dismay of Rebecca start searching for her brother's money.

Others in the cast were George Garinger; Jay Bonecutter; Jane Burgess; Pat Parker; Judy Hafer; Bobby Jenkins; Loy Overly; Gordon Boyer; Roger Osborne.

New Clearing Center Aids Youngsters Finding College

OXFORD, Ohio (AP)—If you can't find a college to accept you this spring, don't give up.

Here's the place to write: College Admissions Center, Glenbrook High School, Northbrook, Ill.

You're welcome, because in this case everybody benefits. The chances are you will find a college, and the school fills a place in its freshman class that otherwise might go idle.

It's all part of an idea hatched by the Assn. of College Admissions Counsellors with a financial assist by the Sloan Foundation.

The Clearing Center Plan was announced today by the association president, Harry M. Gerlach, who is also admissions director at Miami University here.

He said that although college enrollments are at a new peak and many colleges are overcrowded, others are not operating at capacity.

He said: "A survey last autumn revealed that Midwestern colleges and universities could have enrolled nearly 10,000 more well-prepared students.

"Unfilled freshman classes often are the result of multiple applications. The typical high school senior applies for admission to three colleges. If admission is granted by all three, one will enroll the student and the other two will have places to fill."

The admissions center will start operating June 1. Here is how it will work:

If you haven't found a college by June 1 and are a qualified high school grad, you may ask for registration forms from the Center. The Center charges a $10 registration fee.

When any college has openings, its admissions director will be able

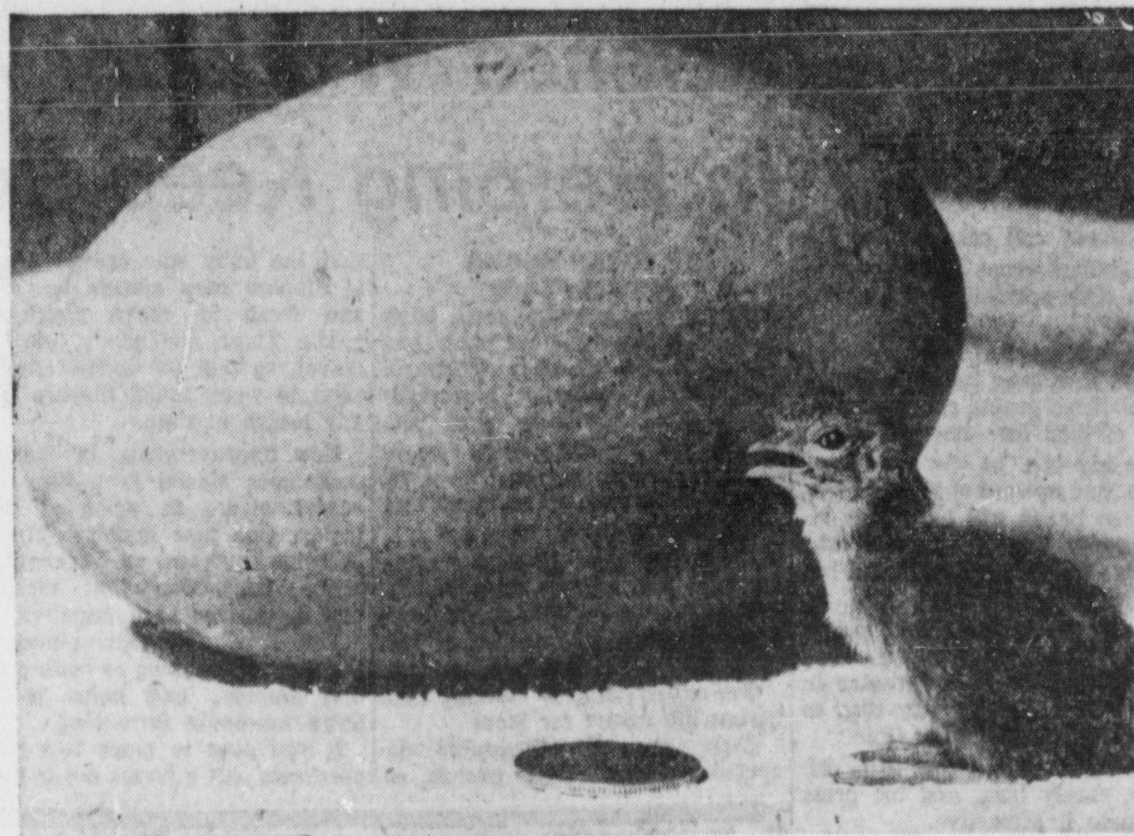

Ike Says Congressional Expenses Running High

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower has advised Congress that it appears congressional expenses will be $261,215 higher than he estimated in his budget.

In amendments to the budget for the fiscal year beginning July 1, he said the appropriation for the Airways Modernization Board can be cut by $685,000.

The additional money for Congress includes $232,715 for the House of Representatives for salaries and additional police.

Man on South Sea Island Can Bank $10,000 a Year

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Like a job on a South Sea island where they serve food fit for a king, drinks cost 25 cents each, and a man can bank $10,000 a year?

Where living expenses are $1.50 a day and movies and television are free?

Such are the inducements that lure men to the tropic isles where the United States tests its most devastating nuclear devices. If it sounds like near paradise, it is, with this trifling exception: there are no women.

Operators of this enterprise are Holmes & Narver, Inc., a Los Angeles engineering firm hired by the Atomic Energy Commission in 1948 to turn Eniwetok Atoll into a proving ground.

On the tiny coral speck of the atoll's Parry Island, 5,100 miles from Los Angeles, the company has maintained an all-male community since 1949, ranging from 500 between tests to the 3,200 now working on the forthcoming test series. Some have been there seven years.

Tests are held about every two years. It takes a year to build up for one, about six months to clean up after it.

Men are paid the going scale in Los Angeles for their specialty, but guaranteed at least eight hours overtime a week and given a $10-a-week bonus. All they ever see of it is $20 a week, the rest being deposited for them or sent home. If a man stays 18 months his income is considered earned abroad and he doesn't have to pay income tax.

Gran Hamner Clubbing Ball With Precision

Philly Third Sacker Knocks In Third of Team's Recent Runs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
It was just last week that reports started about the Philadelphia Phillies looking for a trade that would bring them some power. They should have started the whispering campaign sooner — Gran Hamner's been clubbin' the ball ever since.

In six games since the May 1 rumors, Hamner has knocked in a third of the Phils' 31 runs, getting 10 hits in 23 trips—six of them for extra bases. That's a .435 batting average and an .821 slugging percentage.

Not bad for a 31-year-old short-stop-second baseman taking his first fling at third base in a decade.

He drove in five runs with a bases-loaded triple and the 100th homer of his 14-year career, Monday night, carrying the Phils to an 8-3 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Pittsburgh gave up nine runs in the ninth to the San Francisco Giants but salvaged an 11-10 victory that netted them a share of first place with the idle Chicago Cubs. Milwaukee at St. Louis was postponed because of the weather.

Vern Law, who managed to win his third, had a five-hitter and had blanked the Giants from the first inning on going into the ninth. Then all sorts of things happened — two errors that allowed five unearned runs, seven hits off four Buc pitchers and three pinch hits, tying the National League record for one inning by one club. Jim King, Johnny Antonelli and Bob Speaker delivered the pinch blows, consecutive doubles that drove in five runs.

A three-run homer by R. C. Stevens marked a five-run Pirate seventh that chased Ruben Gomez to his second defeat. Frank Thomas' eighth homer, with a man on, triggered a three-run ninth for what looked like a rout, then became barely adequate. Ray Jablonski and rookie Orlando Cepeda homered in the Giant ninth.

Bob Smith, a guy called Riverboat from Ol' Mizou, picked up his first major league victory in his first start and the Boston Red Sox now have two victories from southpaws—matching their 1957 total.

Riverboat, a wiry 6-footer named by Pacific Coast League writers who figured he was as crafty as a riverboat gambler, walked but two, struck out four and gave up eight hits in an 8-5 decision over Cleveland Monday.

Frank Sullivan, inactive since April 20, had to help out with relief in the eighth.

That was the only game played in the American League. Rain caused postponements of the rest of the schedule.

The Red Sox, playing in Fenway Park where the left field fence dictates a predominantly right-handed staff, had just two southpaws last season and counted only single victories from Dean Stone and Frank Baumann.

Baumann collected his first complete game in the majors as the Red Sox split a pair of 2-1 games with a 12-inning victory in the nightcap of Sunday's double-header.

Then came along Riverboat, an off-season farmer and a graduate of Missouri who lives in Clarence, Mo., with his wife and three sons.

Riverboat was in trouble only twice. In the fourth, Dick Brown homered after a single and walk for a 3-1 Cleveland lead. In the eighth, Minnie Minoso drove in a run with a single and Bobby Avila stole home.

Bloomington Is Rejoicing For Ex-coach

BLOOMINGBURG — "I don't know what I can say anything that has not already been said about Frank: he is a fine coach and a fine gentleman."

So spoke Bloomington's High School Principal G. H. Biddle of Frank Truitt, former Bloomington basketball coach who is taking over head coaching duties at Otterbein College in Westerville, his alma mater.

Truitt coached at Bloomington high school from 1952 through 1955. His team won the county tournament in all four years. The Columbus North team that he coached for the first time this year was runner-up for the state championship and achieved its greatest moment in the tournament semi-finals with a streak-breaking victory over Middletown.

"Naturally, we in Bloomington are all very happy with Frank's success," Biddle said. "He deserves the best."

Truitt announced over the weekend that he was taking the job, succeeding Robert "Mo" Angler, who has coached the Eagles since 1955. Truitt turned down the job earlier in the winter but changed his mind when it was offered a second time.

Acceptance of the Otterbein post carries the qualification that he may take the Ohio State University coaching job, for which he has applied, if it is offered to him.

John Sagar Named Associate Judge For Two Meetings

John L. Sagar of Greenfield-Good Hope Rd. will be associate judge at Lebanon and Hamilton Raceways for the spring harness racing meetings.

Sagar, Washington C. H. dairy operator who has been active in racing activities for many years, will assist William Hufford Jr. of Lebanon, who is presiding judge at both meets. Sharing the duties of associate judge with Sagar will be Lyle Stewart, president of the Lebanon Fair Board.

The 19-day Lebanon meet starts Saturday. It is followed by the 44-day harness meeting at Hamilton, which begins June 13.

Sagar was associate judge at Lebanon a year ago, and also acted as associate judge for the Grand Circuit Races at Delaware, highlighted by the running of the Little Brown Jug.

Giradello Collects

SAN FRANCISCO — Because his work wasn't too hard here and his paycheck was fat, middle-weight Joey Giradello would like another San Francisco bout soon, possibly against Holly Mims.

The No. 4 contender found Rory Calhoun a much less difficult foe than a year ago and decked him twice Monday night while winning a onesided decision at 10 rounds in the Cov. Palace. Calhoun is ranked No. 5.

Nitwits Found In Boats, Too

Survey Tells Causes Of Water Accidents

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A major cause of boating accidents has been uncovered, and it turns out to be the same thing that contributes to the hazards of resetting other human activities all the way from a Sunday drive to a speedy trip down the cellar stairs.

Plain foolishness, that is. In other words, you take a nitwit out of a whizzing automobile and put him into a whizzing motorboat, and he's the same nitwit with only a change of locale. This is a matter of moment, although not necessarily of comfort, to responsible boatmen. At least they don't have a special brand of nitwit to deal with.

The Outboard Boating Club of America, carrying out a survey intended to classify the causes of accidents so that missionary work could be aimed at the most dangerous areas, found that juvenile operators, storms, collisions and fires and explosions rank fairly well down among factors.

But the category best labeled plain lack of common sense leads all the rest. Overloading, standing up in the boat and similar misjudgements accounted for more than 35 per cent of all accidents checked by OBC.

On the other hand, only 9.2 per cent of the boat operators involved were under 20 years old, and the average age of all operators was more than 35.

Storms cause 9.5 per cent of the mishaps and collisions 8 per cent. Fewer than 2 per cent were caused by fires and explosions.

Dupas Says Age To Be Big Factor

HOUSTON, Tex. — Joe Brown's age and Ralph Dupas' weight were the main topics today as both fighters tapered off for the world's lightweight championship bout.

They meet Wednesday night for Brown's title, which he has held for almost two years.

Brown's age is listed as 31 and Dupas, a 22-year-old, has contended all along that his youth will make the difference and he'll win the world's title in his first attempt.

No one doubts that Brown will make the 135-pound limit without trouble, although rumors persist that Dupas is having difficulty.

Frick Urges Minimum on Foul Lines

NEW YORK — Nothing can be done about the Los Angeles Coliseum's short left field fence, says Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick, but it shouldn't happen again.

The commissioner Monday asked the playing rules committee to set a minimum of 325-feet for foul lines and 400 feet for center-field on all parks built or remodeled after June 1.

"There is nothing we can do about parks that have been built," Frick said. "But I have a hunch that 10 or 15 new parks will be constructed in the majors and minors in the next four or five years."

"We want them to know the minimum distances while they are still in the blueprint stages."

"I don't think it is a good situation in Los Angeles," the commissioner said, "but it is a temporary thing until we get a new park."

The rules committee is headed by James T. Gallagher of the Philadelphia Phillies. Gallagher was asked by the commissioner to take a poll of his 10-man committee so that a definite rule could be made by the time of the All-Star game in July.

Ward Returning To Amateur Golf

NEW YORK — Harvie Ward Jr. returns to the amateur golf fold today—fully forgiven—with a chance to prove himself the greatest champion since Bob Jones.

A year's suspension for expense irregularities was lifted by the U. S. Golf Assn., permitting Ward to point for the National Amateur at San Francisco Sept. 8-13 and the first world championship in Scotland a month later.

Before running into difficulties with the USGA over tournament expenses, Ward won consecutive national amateur championships in 1955 and 1956 and went through Walker Cup meetings in 1953 and 1955 without a single defeat.

One-Time Printer In Demand As Hollywood, Broadway Star

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The least likely fellow to be starring in a movie is a sandy-haired, gravel-voiced Linotype named Ray Walston.

Ray has made the grade, double so. He is now being seen as the larcenous Luther Billis in "South Pacific," a role he played on stage in the road company. Now he's here to enact the part he created on Broadway — the frustrated devil's disciple in "Damn Yankees."

He came to Hollywood after being sprung from another play, "Who Was That Lady I Saw You With?" A hit which just opened. Now you know the guy has got to be good in order to get a vacation from a new smash.

"It was amazing how that happened," Ray related. "Leland Hayward asked me about doing the play with Peter Lind Hayes and Mary Healy. I told him I couldn't possibly do it because I had to make the film of 'Damn Yankees.'"

"He sent me Norman Krasna's script anyway. I read it and saw that it was too good to miss. I lay awake all night practicing a speech to tell Hayward to persuade him to let me start the play and take a vacation to do the movie."

"The next morning, Hayward called me first and suggested I start the play and then take time off for the picture. I wasted that sleepless night for nothing."

Walston has a sly, insinuating, growling delivery that can evoke a laugh from the simplest of lines. This knack was not developed overnight.

Ray took a lot of knocks before arriving at success at the age of 38. He was born in New Orleans, quit high school early to work as a printer. Moving to Houston, he got mixed up with Margo Jones' Community Theater, and that did it. He has acted ever since, though he also developed a skill on the Linotype.

His career was a long series of plays, some successful, many not, with a frequent retreat to the print shops when times got tough. After two and a half years with the Cleveland Playhouse, he made the break to Broadway. Though he has done dramatic roles from Shakespeare to Saroyan, "South Pacific" established him as a comic.

Tribunal Rules On Bargaining

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court has ruled that an employer may not insist on a contract clause banning strikes unless voted in secret ballots of union and non union workers.

The tribunal also decided an employer may not demand that an union local be designated the primary party to a working agreement if the National Labor Relations Board has certified the exclusive bargaining representative.

All nine justices agreed that an employer may not insist on a contract clause to recognize the local union only. They divided 5-4 in holding that the ballot-clause insisted upon by the employer constituted an unfair labor practice.

Cleveland Trip Turned Down By City Board

Members Agree That 'Substitute' Should Be Studied

The Washington C. H. Board of Education has declined to approve a high school band trip to the Cleveland Browns football game on Nov. 30.

The action was taken Monday night after a motion to disapprove an invitation from the Browns' management was made by Board Member Stanley Dray who included a provision that the board investigate the possibility of sending the high school musicians to the Cherry Blossom Festival in Washington D.C. next spring.

The band has made a number of appearances at Browns games since 1950, but board members, in unanimously turning down this year's invitation, pointed to the expense of the trip which would at least partially fall upon parents and the more valuable educational aspects of other types of band trips which might be made available.

Last year's televised performance by the band was interrupted by a beer commercial.

Superintendent W. A. Smith pointed out that only 42 of the 96 band parents replied to a poll of opinion on the Cleveland trip. Of these, 40 were favorable and two parents disapproved.

BOARD MEMBERS spent most of the time at their regular meeting discussing decorations and furnishings for the two new grade schools and two additions now under construction for use next fall.

Floor tile and paint in soft pastel colors were selected for the new schools and classrooms, and the board asked the superintendent to prepare a list of furnishings, including desks and chairs, which will be required in the 27 new classrooms.

Furniture now being used in temporary classrooms will be utilized in some of the new rooms, while new equipment will be required for others. Approximately $27,000 of the $640,000 in bonds approved for school construction is earmarked for furnishings and equipment.

Board members Dray and Robert Terluene were named by President Elmer N. Reed to look into the matter of seeding the major part of the 30 acres at the new Eastside school site.

The board also asked for estimates on replacement of a tile drain (for surface water) at Rose Ave. school and authorized the superintendent to award a contract to the lowest bidder.

PAYMENT of $14,782.50, now due to Geiger Bros., Logan, plumbing contractors for the new schools, and $66,146.40 to the Sever-Williams Co., Washington C. H., general contractors, was authorized along with a $81.05 transportation bill submitted by McLaughlin and Keil, the architects.

The board also approved an item of $727.96 for premiums on insurance coverage of $427,500 on the new buildings and additions.

Board Secretary Fred Rost reported that interest on bond money invested in short-term Treasury securities totaled $2,748.35 through May 1, and the board approved reinvestment of $206,000 in the First National Bank at an interest rate of 1 per cent.

The board also paid $548.22 in current bills and accepted the resignations of Herbert Russell and John O'Rourke as members of the coaching-teaching staff.

Two alleged assault cases came before Judge Max G. Dice in Municipal Court here Tuesday. One was continued and the other dismissed.

Alleged assault by Kenneth Groves, 19, of 228 Water St., upon Ruth Ann Groves was charged in the case that was continued until a later date because of the failure of the prosecuting witness to appear.

Mary Oyer, no age or address given, pleaded not guilty to the charge of assaulting and striking Albert Penwell, Jr., 12.

The charge was filed by the boy's father. The defendant was found not guilty, and the case was dismissed.

Ohio River Expected To Crest in Cincinnati

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Ohio River, moving up and down in the past week after heavy spring rains, is expected to crest today at 48 feet—four feet under flood stage here.

That's the report by the U.S. Weather Bureau in a forecast. The river Monday night was at 46.8 feet and rising water spilled over into Lunken Airport playfield and golf course at the eastern end of the city.

'Swap Night' Set By F&G Assn.

Meeting at Lodge Is Thursday Night

If members of the Fayette County Fish and Game Assn. have something they want to trade, or know of something a fellow member has that he wants, Thursday night will be the time for him to open the door to opportunity.

For, Thursday night's monthly meeting at the lodge near Buena Vista also will be the postponed annual "swap night".

The "swap night" was planned originally for February, but it was snowed out then and had to be rescheduled for the May meeting.

One of the members said he had made mental notes of some of the things he had heard are to be placed on the swap block. Among them were coon hounds, bird dog puppies, binoculars, fishing rods, pistols, rifles and even a boat.

BEFORE THE swapping gets underway, the sportsmen are expected to lay plans for another clean-up and a Fourth of July trapshoot and turkey shoot.

A clean-up, combined with an all-day family picnic outing, was slated for last Sunday, but it was rained out. Another date for the clean-up may be set at Thursday's meeting.

For the holiday trapshoot, clay targets will be used, but for the turkey shoot, bullseye-type stationary targets will be used.

The association already has voted $125 to send one school teacher to Camp Muskingum in Carroll County from June 16 to July 19, for a six-week course in conservation education and Thursday night will consider voting another $125 to send a second teacher to the camp, one of the officers said.

The question of sending two to the camp was raised when two teachers (not yet identified) expressed an interest in taking the course, he said.

The evening will come to a close with the serving of refreshments and the showing of a wildlife movie.

Would-Be Robber Flees from Yell

State Highway patrolmen are still looking for the unidentified Negro man who made a feeble attempt to grab a roll of bills from the hand of an attendant at Hender-shot's CCC Service Station west of the city at about 11 p. m. Sunday evening.

Patrolmen said that the "apparently amateur" would-be robber made the grab for the bills, then fled when the attendant yelled for aid. The would-be robber was unarmed, it was believed.

The attendant told patrolmen that the man jumped into a car already occupied by some companions, and sped off.

No specific description of the car or the man was given to authorities by the station attendant.

SOUND WAVES TO DO THE DISHES—It won't be long, 'tis said, until dishes will be washed by sound waves whipping the water into a fury. These ultra-sonic washing machines already are in use in several hospitals, notably North Shore hospital in Manhasset, N. Y., and St. Francis in Jersey City. Too shrill to be heard by the human ear, high-frequency sound waves radiate through the water and literally tear dirt away from surgical instruments, cutting time and labor more than 80 per cent, it is reported. OSU 'Coeds' Give Concert For Students

"The Coeds" were "singing in motion" at Washington C. H. High School auditorium Monday morning and received warm and enthusiastic welcome from the students.

Eighteen members of Ohio State University's Women's Glee Club presented a program of vocal music before junior and senior high school students in a special assembly at 9:30 a. m.

"The Coeds" take their "Singing in motion" theme from the modern dance featured on their program and their swaying as they sing certain numbers.

Grover Baber, vocal music teacher at the high school, said the coeds were received very well by the student audience. He described it as "one of the best receptions given to any musical group visiting here recently," he added.

John Muschick, director of the OSU Women's Glee Club, also directs this segment club. John Beck of the music theory staff at the university is the arranger and one of the accompanists for the singers.

Several of Beck's arrangements were featured by the singers, including his new treatment of "Ben-edictus".

A creative dance by one of "The Coeds" was performed while a song from the play "Kismet" was sung. Other numbers from the same play were also rendered.

"Three B's", a light-mooded take-off on Bach, Beethoven and Brahms, was featured by the Coeds singing "Boogie Woogie Blues and Bop".

The balance of the program consisted of a piano solo and numbers, including "Autumn Leaves", "When You Were Young" and "I Love a Parade".

Approximately 35 parents of students considered eligible for a special eighth grade class in mathematics and science to be started next September will meet at 4 p. m. Wednesday in Room 1 of the high school building to hear the plan outlined by Superintendent W. A. Smith.

The courses, designed to offer an enriched program for superior students, are not compulsory but parental permission must be secured before pupils can be enrolled in them.

The list of potential class members was selected on the basis of grades, general intelligence, achievement and prognostic tests, along with an evaluation by seventh grade teachers.

Parents whose children are eligible for the advanced training received individual invitations to the meeting from the superintendent.
